UKRAINE Clothing Drive

We were contacted by the Stanford Fire Department (Doreen Brown). They are collecting and shipping much needed supplies to the Ukraine. They are requesting very warm hats, gloves, socks, coats, pants, boots, blankets, and sleeping bags, which will be sent in large shipping containers directly to the Ukraine. They will not accept dress clothing, just heavy warm winter-wear. The people working on restoring electric over there are working 24 hours a day, and sleeping in their trucks in the dead of winter – which should give us an idea of what they're in need of. They have already sent two containers over, and include fire fighting equipment and first aid supplies. They've been running fund raisers to pay for the shipping, and the extra money is used for equipment and medical supplies. There is another container scheduled to be shipped in a couple of weeks. If you can donate any of the above, they are collecting at the Stanford Fire House on Monday evenings, or we can gather everything here at Lyall and bring it up in one trip. Contact Alice at (845) 677-3485, or acama@lyallmemorial.org.

worked assisting Ukraine and Ukrainians since 2014. Razom adjusts its efforts to focus on providing what is needed in real-time by those on the ground in Ukraine. Please consider making a donation to: razomforukraine.org

New Book Review Group: If you are interested in joining a book review aimed at devotional themes, contact the Pastor.

Anti-Racist Study Group: Having completed Homeland Elegies, the anti-Racist Study Group will resume on Zoom from 12:30-1:30, Monday, November 7, 2022 to take up a new book. We invite anyone to join us who wants to explore the complexities of race and racism in our country, issues that will not improve until we face them. We will be reading The 1619 Project: A New Origin Story by Nikole Hannah-Jones, The New York Times, and editors Caitlin Roper, Ilena Silverman, and Jake Silverstein, published in 2021. This anthology of essays and stories has been incredibly controversial and is on many banned book lists. As supporters of the freedom to read, we want to see for ourselves. The book re-frames American history, placing the institution of slavery at the core, asserting that our history as a nation began in 1619 with the arrival of the first ship of enslaved Africans, a year before the Mayflower reached Cape Cod and then Plymouth. The book maintains that while American democracy and the prosperity of our country were largely forged by enslaved Black Americans, this group is almost entirely excluded from America's founding stories and is still discriminated against due to racist institutions and policies, stemming from slavery: our economy, laws, law enforcement, society, and the livelihoods of Black Americans. The book concludes with recommendations for reparations. Accounts from other historians, economists, and researchers broaden the perspective. Our study group is welcoming, including our differences; our conversations are enlightening and helpful as we are grateful for this weekly hour to deepen our understanding and raise our awareness of these critical issues. If you'd like to join us, please contact Cat Greenstreet (catgreenstreet@gmail.com) or Pastor Thom.

Bible Study: A new series of discussions has begun and will be held Tuesdays from 1100 am to Noon beginning October 11, taught by Pastor Thom and Jim Demus. Here are the details.

Introduction:

What is the benefit of reading the bible? Is every word written in the bible inspired by God? Is every word of scripture of the same value? If not, how does one give weight and significance? What is a cristo-centric hermeneutic? The bible assumes a bearer/reader. What is the bible expecting from us? What is a "fair reading" of the text?

Week One: Mythical Readings: Spare me the facts, I want the truth.

On an impressionistic reading of the scriptures.

Genesis 2.18-25

God is not enough

God removes himself (Deus absconditus)

Week Two: Historical Readings: "This really happened." "Oh yeah, so what?"

What is the point of history?

Week Three: Poetry/Wisdom Readings: Metaphors Gone Wild.

Week Four: Prophetic Readings: "Tell the Truth and Tell it Slant."

Reading the moments of today will tell the events of tomorrow.

The prophets and scales. The prophets and the poor.

Week Five: Gospel Readings: Stories that turn into maps.

The Gospel wants the bearer/reader to become a follower of Jesus.

Week Six: Epistle Readings: Dear Abby-er-Paul
